

The Myth of the Rational Voter by Donald J. Bourdreaux

Pittsburg Tribune Review / May 7, 2008

Highlight the following :

- P2 The two meanings of "govern themselves"?
- P2 Do people vote sensible?
- P3 Chief conclusion of article
- P4 Example of how acting rational is costly
- P5/P6 When buying a car who enjoys the cost and benefits?
- P7 What happens when you need approval of others?
- P8 What happens when other people share the power to choose?
- P9 What happens to our incentives as it relates to political voting?
- P10 Preferences of beliefs?
- P11 What do many believe? Why?
- P12 What happens when people vote their mistaken beliefs in elections?
- P13 Caplan says that politicians pander to who?
- P14 Irrational voters act how in private affairs?